- Air Sports and its self-organisation are developing and changing in some countries. This has effects on the existing structures, with the distribution of Sporting Powers sometimes being questioned.
- Air Sport Organisations outside Europe are growing.
- FAI Membership will expand.

4. International Relations

IOC

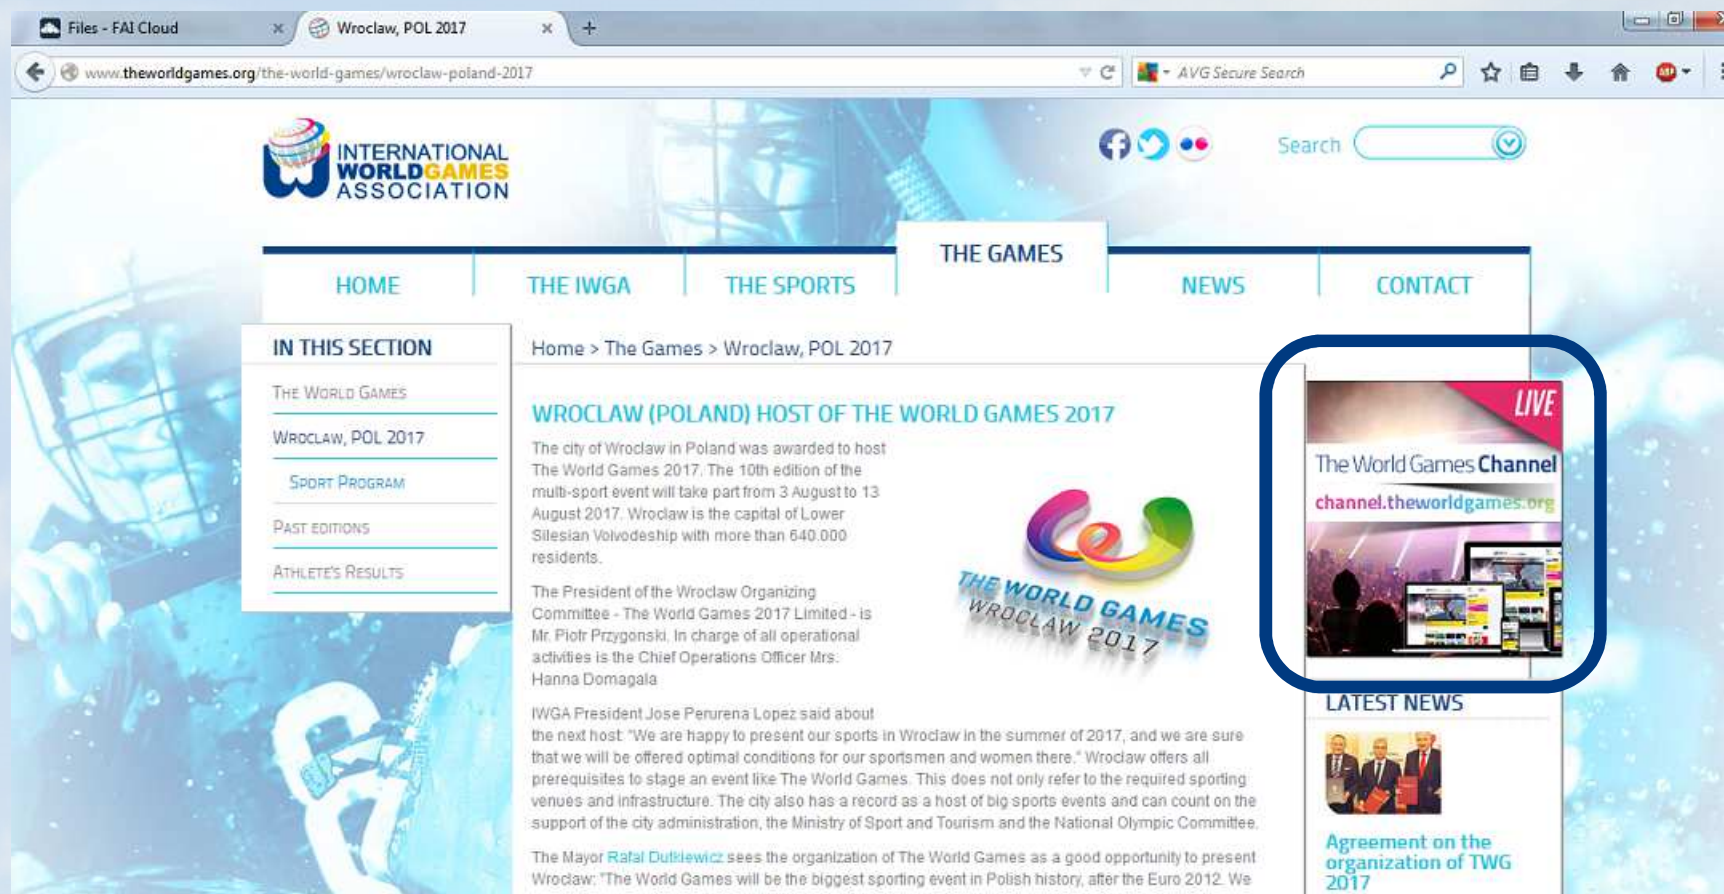

22/05/2014

In another key milestone in the process of building Olympic Agenda 2020, a strategic roadmap for the future of the Olympic Movement, IOC President Thomas Bach today released the membership of the 14 Working Groups which will help frame some of the key recommendations. Each group will be made up of key stakeholders of the Olympic Movement, including IOC members, athletes and representatives of the International Federations and National Olympic Committees. As part of the ongoing open and inclusive process, a number of experts have also been included from civil society, including representatives of leading international organisations, NGOs and business organisations. The Working Groups will look at proposals made by the Olympic Movement, the world of sport and even by individual members of the public. Under discussion will be topics ranging from Ethics and the Youth Olympic Games to Good Governance and Autonomy and the planned Olympic TV Channel.

113 NATIONAL FEDERATIONS

AirSport incorporates an exciting range of airborne activities. For the Urban Games, depending on the location this may include paramotoring, canopy piloting, hot air ballooning, powered aerobatics or paragliding accuracy. Regardless of chosen disciplines, the audience can expect to see the skill and expertise of the pilot as they fly through the sky soaring above the beautiful architecture of the city below.
